Erin Brockovich goes organic

September is a big month for organic producers in Ireland, starting with the Slow Food Terra Madre (4 Sep; see page 8) and wrapping up with the announcement of the National Organic Food Awards at SHOP in the RDS (29 Sep). In the middle of the month sits National Organic Week (15–21 Sep) and one high-profile event in UCD's Belfield Campus sees renowned campaigner and activist Erin Brockovich (subject of the 2000 oscar-winning film) talk on the role and future of organic food, and the power of the individual to create lasting change. Organised by Glenisk, all the proceeds from ticket sales will be donated to the GM-free Ireland Network. The event takes place at 1pm on Saturday 20 September. Tickets cost €27.65 and are available from ticketmaster.ie or by telephoning 0818 719300.
