

Erin Brockovich.

Erin Brockovich comes to Dublin

Renowned campaigner and activist Erin Brockovich, subject of the 2000 Oscar-winning film of the same name, will visit Dublin this month to address an audience at University College Dublin, Belfield, at 1pm on Saturday, 20th September. The event is being held by Glenisk to celebrate Ireland's National Organic Week, which runs from 15-21 September 2008.

Tickets for the event, which is open to the public, cost €27.65 and are available from www.ticketmaster.ie or by telephoning 0818 719300. Proceeds from ticket sales will be donated to the GM-free Ireland Network.